

Red Light Wives

From New York Times bestselling author Mary Monroe comes a powerful novel about the hopes, dreams, laughter--and limits--of six unique women surviving on the streets of San Francisco. . . Theyre about as different as six women can be--haughty and humble, beautiful and plain, young and not-so-young, black, white, Latina, and origins unknown. But aside from a gift for laughing hardship in the face, they have one very important thing in common--Clyde Brooks. You might say that Clyde is their manager. And you might say that Lula Mae, Ester, Megan, Rosalee, Helen, and Rockelle are colleagues--in the worlds oldest profession. Clyde likes to refer to them as his wives. Maybe its their love for the high life--and for each other--that makes the bond between Clydes ladies so unbreakable. Maybe its their private demons that keep them so loyal to Clyde--or so he thinks. For hard as they try to distract themselves, nothing can quell the womens longing for a life free from Clyde and what he represents--until one daring act of defiance changes everything. . .
