

Sophias Courage (Choosing Love Book 4)

Event planner, Sophia Campbell finally has her life back on track. As a single mother at nineteen shed been an easy target for her ex husbands flattery and lies. Years later, after a much too civilized divorce, she is stronger and wiser and fiercely independent. Ready to focus on the two things that mean the most to her: her son and her career. When shes hired to organize the wedding of one of the citys wealthiest men shes sure it will be the event of the year. If she can pull it off. Private security consultant Sullivan Price, AKA Caveman, wasnt sure he believed in love at first sight. Until the day it happened to him. He took one look at Sophia Campbell sitting at a cafe in the sunshine and he knew. The problem is, Sophia isnt interested in a relationship. Fresh out of a disastrous marriage, she isnt about to let another man get close enough to hurt her again. Or her son. If Sullivan can just find a way to slip past her defenses he can show her how good it could be between them. And once he has her body he can only hope her heart will have the courage to follow.
