

Midnight Moonlight (A Carnival of Wolves)

A BBW alpha werewolf story that takes its cues from Beauty and the Beast. The mind of a beast. The body of a man. Calla Reynolds awakes in a dark room but not alone. There is someone else with her. He is a wild man beautiful and sculpted, possessed of a feral sensuality. He cannot speak. He only growls and whines. He stirs complicated feelings within her: fear, pity, and shamefully desire. She vows to help him escape their dark prison, whatever it is, wherever they are. Ryder Pierce changed into his werewolf form ten years ago, and he lost himself inside the animal. Now, he is back in human form, but he can't remember how to be a man. In his mind, he is still a wolf. He is drawn to this soft woman, however, to her curves and swells, to her quiet voice, to her calm strength. If anyone can tame his wild beast and bring back his humanity, it will be her.
